Rev. Eld Williams, a Southern evangelist with ability and religious energy to stir up any community for Christ and the Church, is now in the midst of one of the most interesting revival meetings that has been held in the First Baptist Church for some time.

He is a speaker of great influence on his hearers, and he is earnest man, and he isn't afraid to work out on the streets. He has been preaching to crowded houses all week and last night two young men joined the Church.

Tonight he will preach again, and with the singer, Mr. Brown, there is no danger of any one getting cold to the Lord. Suppose you go out and hear him if you haven't already done so. He will preach both morning and evening tomorrow, and after evening service the ordinance of baptism will be administered.

About fifty guests assembled at the delightful home of Miss Ficklin last night to enjoy a dance given in honor of Miss Robinson of Florence, Ala. The house was decorated with beautiful lights and flowers, and the carpets were covered with green.

Miss Berry and Prof. Bullitt furnished the music to which the company danced. The reception also consisted of Mrs. Robert Ficklin, mother of the hostess, who was exceedingly handsome in an embroidered waist, black lace and diamonds.

Miss Robinson, the petite guest of honor, was gowned in pink organza over tulle, carrying bouquets; being born in Old Kentucky she bears the stamp of Southern charm and obliging ways. Miss Hattie Dobson, in a handsome dress of olive tulle; Miss Sallie Ball, white Parisian; and the fair daughter of the house, Miss Ficklin, who is a prototype of her mother, in white muslin, satin trimmings, and diamonds.

The comedy, "Delicious refreshments were served and it was a late hour, long past the appointed time, when the house ceased to be merry.

There is laughter for the laughable, music for the musical and much to commend and patronize in the performance of "A Breezy Time." At Washington Opera-house tonight.

The funeral of Mrs. Mollie Lashbrook yesterday afternoon from her late residence near Clark's Station was one of the largest and by far the saddest that has ever occurred in this country.

Mr. James Purdon, formerly a newspaper man of Aberdeen, now residing at Butler, O., was married in this city last evening to Miss Elizabeth P. Brown, daughter of Mrs. Mary Brown.

There was a cutting scrape at Maysville last evening. John Cogan was drunk and went into the store of Jim Collins. John Mitchell stepped into the store, and Cogan attacked him, and during the scuffle Mabel Farnham and Constable Alexander went in and arrested Cogan, and before they got him to the lock-up he seriously cut Jim in the leg.

"A Breezy Time" at the Opera-House Tonight.
The fundamental principle of "A Breezy Time" is a creation of interest, and working upon this idea the author has given us an amusing and well-told story that departs from the usual line, and Fitz and Webster's clever company has succeeded in elaborating into a most enjoyable entertainment. Meritons from the fact that it not only has all the elements of music and fun, but its story is coherent and full of sustained interest.

The three acts of "A Breezy Time" have been happily impregnated with music, songs, dances and amusing specialty features, all of which are introduced in an easy and perfectly legitimate manner and the presentation gives a light and crisp entertainment.

The finale of the last act was arranged by Fitz and Webster, in which they introduced a number of "A Breezy Time" acts, closing the show with a grand cake walk by the entire company.

Be sure and see "A Breezy Time" at the Opera House tonight and have your seats reserved at once. Prices 25c, 35c and 50c.

Rev. and Mrs. J. C. Molloy have moved into the residence on West second street lately vacated by Mr. Milton Johnson.

If the gentleman who so cleverly borrowed The Lashbrook's Nail-Puller will so cleverly return it, he will be voted a very clever fellow.

The game laws of Kentucky provide that it shall be unlawful to kill or have in possession of any wild game on the first day of January and November 1. The killing of doves is prohibited between February 1 and August 1. There is no restriction placed upon the killing of rabbits, but it is extremely accepted as the proper time after there has been frost. There is danger of the law against tanned food being invoked should the rabbit be sold during warm weather.

HOX. JOHN W. YERKES.

Residing Meeting Addressed By Him at the Court House Last Night.

The Hon. John W. Yerkes of Danville met with a hearty reception at the Court House last evening.

The audience contained many ladies, the women occupied of thoughtful, considerate voters, who weighed every word spoken.

Mr. Yerkes showed the sincerity of the Gospel Bill, in that it was simply substituted for former Democratic enactments, and it was a measure in keeping with Mr. Yerkes' professed friendship for the people, but on the contrary it was a measure which robbed the people of local self-government by taking the power of appointing election officers away from the local officials, placing it in the hands of a commission at Frankfort which was responsible to none but themselves.

He went at some length on past Democratic legislation in this state, and compared its beneficent influence with the beneficial results attained during the Administration of Governor Braden.

He made a strong point against Democratic measures by citing the appointment of certain "Senator and Representative Districts" whereby "Republicans were unfairly robbed of their political rights under the Constitutional rule.

Mr. Yerkes is a finished orator, and is always aware of a good audience and an attentive hearing in Maysville.

FLOTSAM—JETSAM—LIQAM!

NEWS NOTES FROM VATER'S GREAT HIGHWAY.

The Bunnish has quit in the Cincinnati-Louisville trade.

The Seashell Woodruff has wrecked the steamer River Hawk near Portsmouth.

There is no immediate prospect of a rise at Pittsburgh. The rains of last week caused the headwater streams to rise a few inches, but that will affect nothing below Pittsburgh.

The fight now on between the Lee Line of Memphis and the St. Louis and Tennessee River Packet Company of St. Louis is warm in the fact that it will sweep the waters of a river, where they run, and it continues to grow hotter.

The White Collar Line steamer Argonaut and Greenwood are reported around on the bar at Greenup. The Argonaut has been sinking since last Friday, and the Greenwood since Sunday. The falling river has made navigation quite difficult to up-river points.

It will require all the workboats at Pittsburgh to get the coal out of the coal yard, and two or three trips to bring all the coal away, that is loaded in the harbor and ready to leave. If a good big sudden and substantial rise should come what a scene the harbor at Pittsburgh will present. To witness the starting of a big coal fleet is worth going miles to see.

The steamer Star of Kansas arrived at Memphis on her first trip, and the cargo in fact was not so much as to discharge at the Memphis wharf was a record-breaker for the season. She had 1,100 bales of cotton aboard and was loaded to the gunwales.

The cargo was collected between Cairo and Memphis, and this does not look much as though the heavy staple will be diverted from the Memphis market.

Captain Phillips of the independent steamer City of Pittsburgh will enter another boat at the Pittsburgh, Cincinnati and Louisville line with the Pittsburgh, when she resumes her run this winter, it is said. The idea is to start a boat from each end of the line once a week. It will take two steamers to run this trade properly and the story is probably true, as the Captain once stated that if such a move was necessary it would be made. This move will sweep the river line in a "hot time" this winter.

The commerce of the Ohio river is threatened, and unless the river is improved at the trap at Sewickley, it is doubtful if any coal can be moved from Pittsburgh in the event of a rise. Captain John A. Wood, Captain W. B. Rogers and Captain J. N. Austin, representing the Pittsburgh Coal Exchange, held a conference with Captain William Martin of the Day's Line, and the result of the meeting is that it is understood that the Government is ready to go ahead and make whatever improvements are necessary.
